Activities:

Between the transmission of the cultural inheritance and the opening to the contemporary world, the Faculty of Humanities and Society favours interdisciplinarity, at the crossroads of several different and complementary majors: History, Art History, Archaeology, Philosophy, Music, Social Geography.

Studies:

Besides the preparation of competitive exams to become a teacher, the faculty is reputed to provide quality general courses, endeavouring to make easier the work integration out of the traditional work opportunities.

Fields of study proposed:

- Social geography
- History
- Art History
- Musicology
- Philosophy
